Dear Members and Friends:

It is my pleasure to invite you to join the National Black Caucus of State Legislators (NBCSL) at the 47th Annual Legislative Conference (ALC) in Nashville, Tennessee from November 27 to December 1, 2023.

NBCSL is honored to hold our premier convening in a city where the echoes of history blend seamlessly with the vibrant energy of the present, creating the perfect backdrop for our upcoming policy conference. Nestled along the winding banks of the Cumberland River, Nashville is a city rich in cultural heritage and steeped in pivotal moments of the nation's past and present. It stands as a testament to the evolution of the American South. From its humble beginnings as a trading post to its pivotal role in the Civil Rights Movement—including the most recent events within the Tennessee State House of Representatives—Nashville has been a crucible of transformation and progress. As we gather for our ALC, we are not only immersed in the captivating melodies of country music that have made this city famous but also in the legacy of resilience, innovation, and change that defines Nashville. Join us in this dynamic and historically significant city as we engage in meaningful discussions and shape the policies that will influence our nation's future and impact our constituents' lives.

The theme of this year's conference is The Future is NOW! Meeting Challenges and Creating Opportunities. Our annual conference is an opportunity for legislators to gather, discuss, debate, and determine policies to protect and assist underrepresented constituents who are far more greatly impacted by the decisions of policy makers and the Supreme Court. During the conference, we will learn about policy issues of national and state importance and share best practices for implementing policies that will protect and benefit all Americans.

We also understand the importance of partnering with other legislative bodies, corporations, government agencies, as well as civil and community organizations to leverage combined power. Legislators will hear from experts in a variety of fields including business, health, technology, transportation, and international affairs. Legislators will also vote to promote standpoints on substantive policy issues via resolutions that embody NBCSL's core values, promoting equal access to America's opportunities and promises. Our resolutions will identify current policy problems, provide real-time solutions, and often result in enacted laws.

Join us in Nashville, Tennessee at NBCSL's 47th Annual Legislative Conference, where we will conduct business and have a great time in Music City. I look forward to seeing you there!

Sincerely,

Representative Laura Hall (AL)
President, NBCSL
